The Surgi-Sox Torso-Style animal bandage provides comfort and support while protecting wounds, stitches, abrasions and dermatological conditions on the trunk. This product is an effective replacement for the “cone collar”, allowing the patient to eat, drink and move normally while recovering. The Torso-Style bandage is also highly effective as a compression bandage for post surgical use.

The Surgi-Sox Leggings Bandage is the perfect front leg coverage solution when padding or support that DogLeggs provides is not required such as for lick granuloma, burns etc.

The extended longevity of today’s canines often requires a little help in the later years. The Pet-Lift is the perfect solution to help senior dogs when they need help getting up or support when walking. In addition PetLift is the perfect tool to be used with modern rehabilitative techniques that require a secure method to support and direct the patient during physical therapy. The Pet-Lift comes in two models, the original rear lift and the front and back lift.

Both DogLeggs and Surgi-Sox started off by helping one of our own animals in their time of need and resulted in companies that have helped many thousands of others all around the world. The acquisition of Surgi-Sox allows DogLeggs to better produce and sell quality veterinary products that are extremely effective; provide a high level of customer service and innovation that result in a commensurate high level of customer satisfaction.
